

University Transfer

More and more students are discovering the best place to begin a bachelor's degree is at a community college. Since the courses required in the first two years of a four-year degree are general education courses that you can take at any school, start close to home and at a fraction of the cost. CCSN, NSC and UNLV have transfer agreements that help students with a smooth transition from CCSN to a bachelors degree programs. CCSN also has agreements with other university partners such as Regis University, Southern Utah University, and Nova Southeastern University. Use the Transfer Plan to help you get started.

Start Your Bachelor's Degree at CCSN

You can take as little or as much time as you need to complete your freshman and sophomore courses at CCSN, then transfer your credits to a four-year school to complete your junior and senior courses. But consider completing your Associates degree at CCSN because your transfer to NSC and UNLV and other Universities is then guaranteed, if you meet minimum standards!

CCSN offers three transfer degrees to choose from.

- Associate of Arts
- Associate of Business
- Associate of Science

Please see an advisor to help determine which degree may be best for you. CCSN transfer courses are almost always accepted out of state, even at the most prestigious universities.

Small Classes

At CCSN, the average class size is 21. At a university, it's not unusual to find 300 students in a lecture, especially in your first two years. Which do you think makes for a better learning environment? The instructors at CCSN don't face constant pressure to publish or make a name in research; they're here primarily to teach you.

Low Cost

A year's full-time tuition at CCSN is about half the price of a public four-year college or university, and about one-tenth the price of a private institution.

CCSN Credits Transfer to Universities

CCSN offers many of the freshman and sophomore courses you'll find at universities everywhere, including art, the social, physical, and life sciences, music, literature, writing and much more.

Need a Fresh Start?

If you didn't do well in high school but are now ready for a four-year college degree, CCSN can help you make the transition. And if you complete an Associates Degree, you can apply for transfer admission to a four-year state school and your high school record won't be a factor. One of our admissions staff can help you get started.
