CSN Welcomes Students Back for Fall Semester

The final date to enroll is September 2

Aug. 24, 2018 – The College of Southern Nevada is ready for tens of thousands of students to hit our campuses on Monday with a Welcome Back Crew and all the information they'll need to navigate the start of a new semester.

Classes start Monday, August 27, and we'll deploy faculty, staff and students who know their way around our three campuses to help new students get where they're going. This year, there will be something a little different on each campus: The construction of new student unions has begun, and they're set to open in the fall 2019 semester.

Students can still sign up for classes through September 2, but for those who can't, our Department of Recruitment and College Connections is hosting several information sessions for those who want to learn more about the state's largest college. They'll cover the degrees and certificates available, answer questions about financial aid, and show off the campuses to those who are interested. For more, visit www.csn.edu/infosessions.

What: CSN First Day of Classes

About CSN: Founded in 1971, the College of Southern Nevada is the state's largest and most ethnically diverse higher education institution. CSN is accredited through the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities and specializes in two-year degrees and workforce development that lead directly to high-demand careers or transfer to a university. It also offers seven bachelor's degrees in specialized fields and is the state's largest provider of adult basic education and literacy training. CSN is a Minority Serving Institution and Nevada's first Hispanic Serving Institution. Our students create flexible schedules with day, evening and weekend classes taught on three main campuses and multiple locations throughout Southern Nevada or online. CSN is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action institution.
