Electronics Engineering Technology Program

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES: - Within a few years of graduation:
Graduates with CSN’s Engineering Technology with Electronics Emphasis degree will demonstrate the ability to apply circuit analysis and design, computer programming, analog and digital electronics, and microprocessor/microcontroller principles to install, test, troubleshoot and maintain electrical and electronic systems as bench, defense contractor, and bio-medical equipment technicians. Graduates will obtain have effective technical communication skills necessary to function on professional teams as technicians or managers. Graduates are prepared to enter the working force with professional work ethic with the commitment to lifelong learning, quality and continuous improvement through the clear ability to assume increasing levels of responsibility in both industry and community.